A lesson on why things are seen

The theory of a section and movement in the field

Practising camouflage and concealment

Combined Cadet Force (CCF)

The CCF have been rather busy over the last few weeks.

1-star and 2-star cadets spent the first weekend of the Christmas holidays improving their target shooting skills at the Swynnerton camp indoor rifle range. We had some impressive shooting with best groupings from Alex B. and Sylwia W.

Last weekend, it was the turn of the basic level cadets (year 8) to attend their first weekend camp. We are pleased to say that all those who attended passed their assessments on the following elements of the syllabus: Basic First Aid, Basic Navigation and Basic Fieldcraft.

The training involved completing an orienteering course, demonstrating first response and CPR as well as completing an observation stand on the use of camouflage and concealment.

Well done to all of our cadets from basic to 2 star level who have passed key elements of the course and achieved badges.

We look forward to our February weekend where 1 star cadets will do their 1 star fieldcraft training.

Andrew Tate

You will likely be aware of the recent news coverage and arrest of Andrew Tate. Before Christmas, in recognition of the potential risk his ideology and other negative social media influencers pose to students at Tudor Grange, we started to roll out two lessons to all students in years 7-11 on combatting violence and misogyny through Tudor Habits and Values. We have shared with students some of the concerning facts about Andrew Tate's behaviour and his treatment of women (age appropriate) and encouraged students to reflect upon who they want to be, their own values and the values of their friends.

We wanted to share some of the material that we used to create our lessons with you so that, if you wish to, you can follow up these lessons with your child at home. We believe that this is an important step, especially in the light of the fact that initial feedback from teachers is that a number of students, boys especially, have reported being targeted with pro-Andrew Tate material through apps such as Tiki Tok. You will find some helpful material here link if you wish to explore this topic further.

We always want to improve our provision; we will be sharing a survey with students so that we can collate their reflections on those lessons..
